

Act Well Your Part

Read this before stepping on stage

1. Don't forget the audience

Think of the audience as your acting partner. Make sure they can see, hear and understand you.

2. Act with the voice AND the body

How does your character stand, walk, gesture?

What kind of character does the audience see?

3. Pay attention to your voice

Be aware of your diction, articulation and volume. All three are necessary in the theatre!

4. Stay in character

Even if you forget lines or get horrible stage fright, stay in character. If you're always in character the audience will never know there's something wrong.

5. You are never invisible

If you can see the audience, they can see you. Never assume you can goof off, squirm or break character when you're not the focus of a scene.
